no, fortunately

a chimp with whiskers would be pretty weird in my opinion

One of those garchomp or togekiss type ones where it’s impossible to tell what’s shiny and what’s not also debating soft resetting for shiny sobble

but I know it will 100% drive me up the wall

I'm very partial to water starters but scorbunny is cute
Now if only it would actually be possible for me to get the game

ugh monkeys

why is sobble the exact same shape as mudkip??

scorbunny looks like it's gonna have good evolutions, also it looks very g4 except for the rectangles

"sobble" is not a great name and "grookey" sounds like they're going for groot but a monkey

”groot-key”

I was certainly getting European vibes from the art, could be England but somehow those mountains make me think it could even be Italy for some reason

I'm gonna get the fricking monkey not because I like it but because I want to train the Pokémon specifically tailored to kill sobble. (lol like I'm gonna be able to get a switch in time)

@Grif

I was suspecting that! Is it near Kalos? Since it is kind of the Pokémon version of France and Europe.

To me Grooky looks kind of like a lemur, although only kind of. I think I'm going for Scorbunny, even though I usually don't choose fire starters.
